Masala Corner LinkedIn post preview

Tired of the 12:30 PM lunch roulette? Same expensive delivery apps. Same uninspired options. Same regret by 2 PM.

Masala Corner just solved this.

After 15 years of feeding this neighborhood, they're launching a weekday lunch thali subscription—fresh, home-style Indian meals delivered to your desk or ready for quick pickup. Lower cost than daily ordering. Zero planning required. Actual flavor.

Here's what makes it different: this isn't corporate catering. It's a family-run kitchen with a decade-and-a-half track record, bringing authentic meals to professionals who deserve better than their desk drawer snacks.

Starts Monday. Spots are filling up.

If you've been meaning to fix your lunch situation, this is the move.
